BUT THE TRACK'S ABOUT TO GET TRICKY!

CRASH

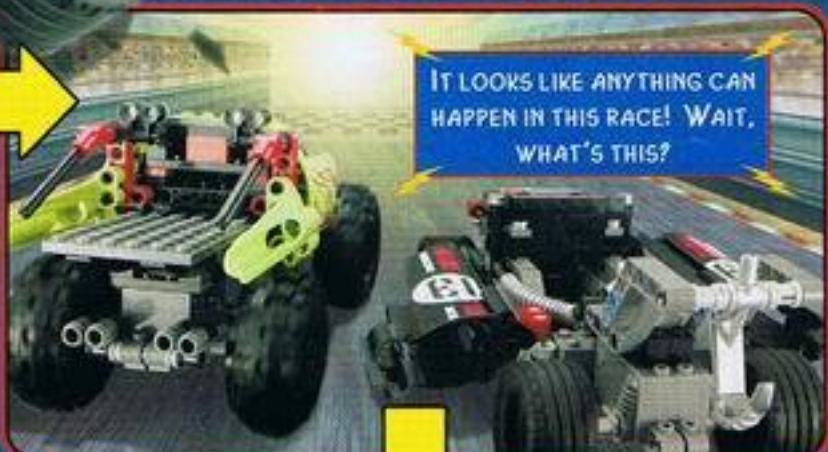

LOOKS LIKE THE BOOSTER BEAST'S SIZE WORKED AGAINST IT THIS TIME!

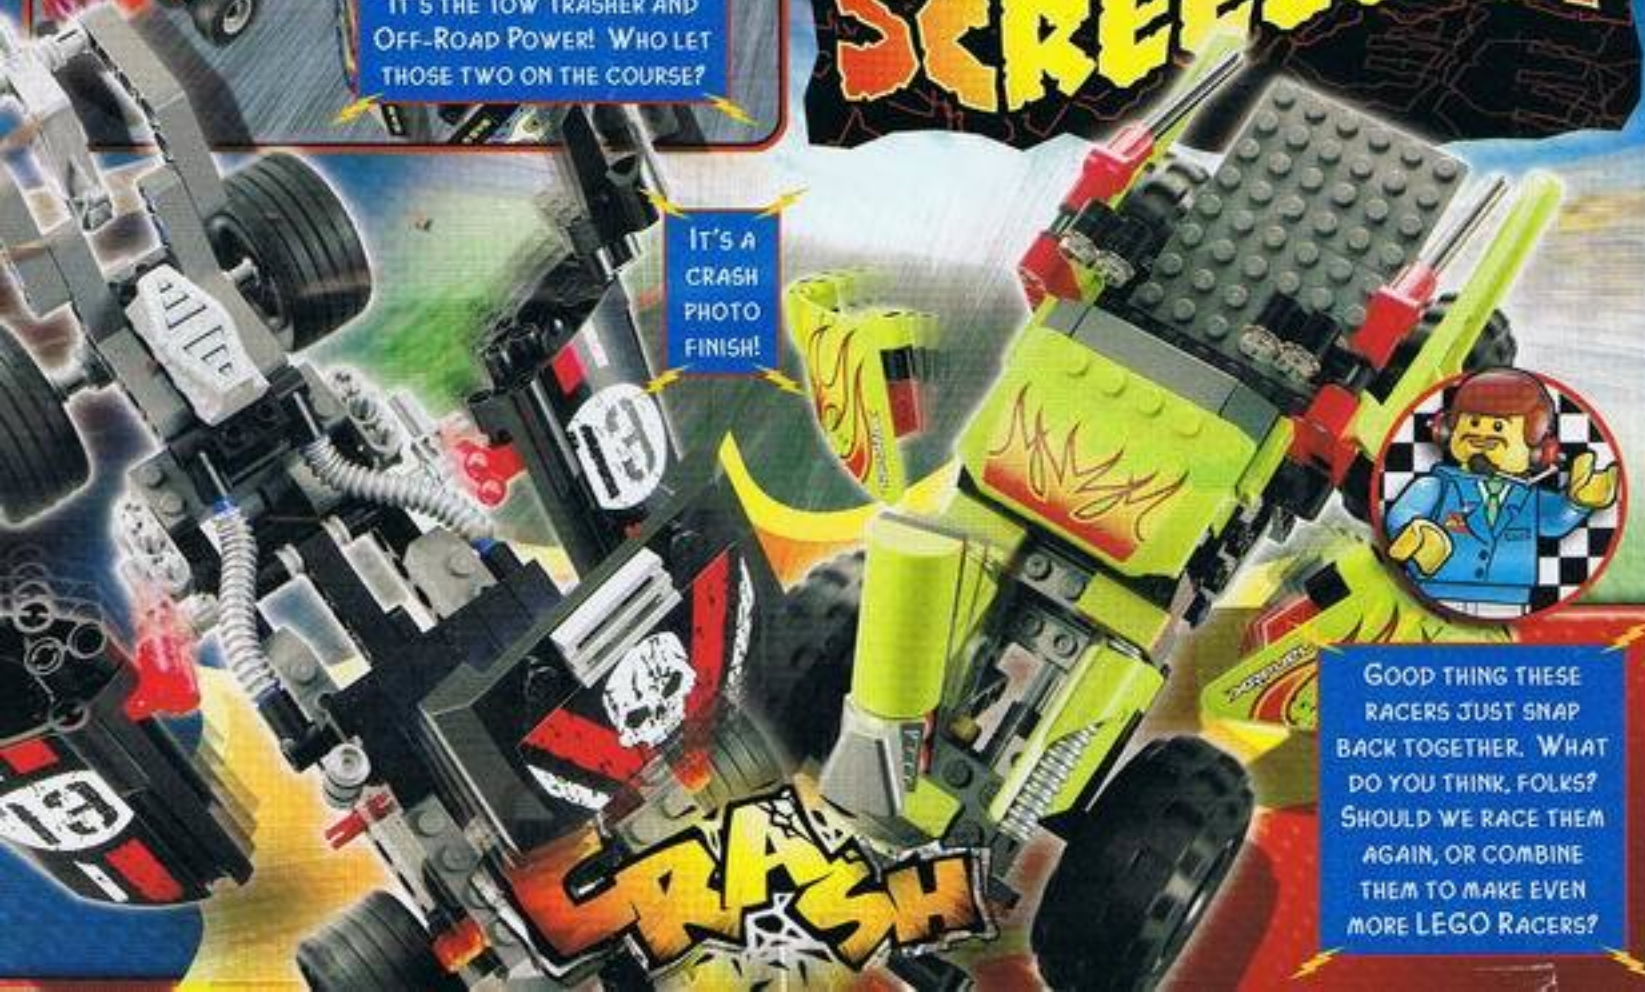

THE FIRE CRUSHER AND NIGHT BLAZER ARE NECK AND NECK! BUT WHAT'S THAT COMING UP BEHIND?

IT'S THE TOW TRASHER AND OFF-ROAD POWER! WHO LET THOSE TWO ON THE COURSE?

IT LOOKS LIKE ANYTHING CAN HAPPEN IN THIS RACE! WAIT, WHAT'S THIS?

IT'S A CRASH PHOTO FINISH!

GOOD THING THESE RACERS JUST SNAP BACK TOGETHER. WHAT DO YOU THINK, FOLKS? SHOULD WE RACE THEM AGAIN, OR COMBINE THEM TO MAKE EVEN MORE LEGO RACERS?

LEGO® MOSAIC

Building a WORLD OF POSSIBILITIES

LEGO Mosaic (say it out loud: "moe-ZAY-ick") is a brand-new line for 2007 that lets kids and families build fun and colorful displayable artwork. Using a transparent baseplate and a great selection of small LEGO pieces, builders of all ages can create just about anything that they can imagine.

Use the included hanging piece to display your mosaic on the wall for all to see – or take it apart and start all over again!

The world of MINDSTORMS meets the atomic particle as the 2007 FIRST LEGO League (FLL) goes on a Nano Quest! This year's FIRST Championship and FLL World Festival will be held April 12-14, 2007, at the Georgia Dome and Georgia World Congress Center in Atlanta, GA.

Nano Quest invites the FLL teams to explore the world of science and technology that starts at the atomic level and leads to the things we do and use every day. This new frontier of science is expected to impact everything from medicine to computers to the environment. ■

FLL will host 104 teams from around the globe this year. Teams will participate in a 2 ½ day tournament that showcases their MINDSTORMS creations and nanotechnology research projects.

The result of an alliance between FIRST and the LEGO Company, FLL encourages students to solve real-world engineering challenges and learn to make positive contributions to society. For more information, check out www.firstlegoleague.org.

The FLL World Festival is free and open to the public.
